COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Chapter 90A, Sec. 40, of the Revised Statutes covers as to what shall make up the contents of the annual report. Sub-section III quoted as follows: "It shall contain a detailed statement of the assets and liabilities of the municipality including a list of all delinquent taxpayers and the amount due from each."

For several years a complete list of the delinquent or unpaid taxes has not been printed in the report. It has been the practice that persons paying after Jan. 1st through until the report goes to press to leave their names out.

The books close on Dec. 31st each year. Persons owing taxes after this date are by law delinquent in the payment of their tax.

This year for the first time for a number of years all persons owing taxes after Dec. 31st shall have their names published in the annual report. Those making payment between Jan. 1st and the time the report goes to press which is usually about Feb. 1st will have their name prefixed by a star indicating payment has been made since the books closed.

A statement pertaining to this matter will appear on each tax bill as a reminder.

A hearing is being held by the State Highway Commission on Aug. 24th to designate Route 5 from Bethel to Fryeburg as a State Highway. The current designation is State Aid Highway. If the designation is changed the town will save the expense of plowing in the winter that portion of Route 5 located in Bethel.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

Avoid the possibility, too, of tripping over cords that may upset fans, sweepers, heaters, or other electrical equipment.

H.

Rev. Norman T. Allers officiated at the double ring service at 2:00 p. m. Baskets of mixed gladioli formed an altar for the ceremony at which the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her lovely gown of white nylon over taffeta with black velvet border was of ballroom length. She wore a white hat with a veil and wore a corsage of white roses.

Her bridal attendant, Edna Mandell of Westbrook, N. H., was outfitted in a ballroom length gown of peach lace over taffeta. She wore a thimble ring and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride's mother was attended in a gown of brown lace over taffeta, with pink accessories, and complemented her costume with a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's stepmother wore a yellow nylon dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Michael Leonard, brother of the bride, served as best man, and others were Charles Leonard, brother of the bride, and Thord Hutchinson, friend of the groom.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents was held immediately after the ceremony.

TODAY'S Meditation

The Upper Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, August 18
Read Mark 9:17-24

I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me. (Philippians 4:13.)

Once I went skiing with some young people. It was such a beautiful day. The trees were heavy with snow. The limbs bent toward the ground.

During a resting period, I noticed two trees. One of them a fir tree, had not been able to carry the weight of the snow. The trunk had snapped about six feet above the ground. The other one, a birch tree, its top bent to the ground, had not broken under the weight of the snow. When we shook off the snow, the tree rose again and stood as straight as ever.

Life can burden people. For some their power of resistance breaks down. They are not able to rise again. Other persons, also heavily burdened are howed down under the weight, but they do not break. They possess an inner strength which prevents their power of resistance from ever reaching the breaking point. They weather the storms of life, rise again, and stand as witnesses of a glorious inner power. They know Christ. His strength in them makes the difference.

PRAYER: Our Father, we come to Thee for the strength which enables us not to break under the hardships of life. Grant us that strength today through Jesus Christ our Lord. We pray in His Name. Amen.

Thought For The Day
I will humble myself before Christ who gives me strength to rise again.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

AUGUST
There are many who would gladly skip the eighth month and its sticky, plodding days. "It is not the heat but the humidity" has become a standard conversation opener. This segment of the calendar is often a moist one; but behind the lassitude and quietness Year is marching steadily toward maturity.

Twice in each annual cycle, time seems to pause. In February and again in August, one feels natural forces hesitate in their forward march and consolidate for a major change. You can see autumn's shadow now; there are evenings toward the end of the month when a sharp-boned breeze from the northwest foretells the future.

This is the time when corn sheaves upward and the golden tassels shed pollen grains; first spikes of goldenrod lift glowing heads and Joe Pye weed holds purple banners. The countryman watches the old August Sweet peas and plans a day for blueberry picking. Goldfinches sweep across the fields and their plaintive peeps accentuate the staccato whirr of grasshoppers.

Roadsides are drab and dusty and shorn fields and pasture hillsides are brown-gold in the heat. Tomatoes begin to redden and color starts on the apples. Men cut the second crop of hay and the sweet, spicy fragrance of willing grass floats far in moist air.

It is hard to realize that just a few shorts weeks ago men went forth to place seeds in Earth's breast. Time, the only common denominator of all men, never ceases. Now the harvest season is at hand. August may not be the most enjoyable period of the cycle, but it is an integral part of the Master Plan.

CMG Graduates Honor Bethel Nurse

The graduating class of 1960 at the Central Maine General School of Nursing in Lewiston, recently honored Mrs. Lillian Coburn Mason, daughter of Mrs. Grace Coburn, and the late Leslie Coburn, by dedicating their yearbook, "The Caduceus," to her.

Mrs. Mason, a graduate of the Maine Eye and Ear Hospital at Portland in 1949, has been at CMG four years as student instructor in the operating rooms.

The following are the words of dedication used in the yearbook, and which completely convey the feelings of all students whom she has taught.

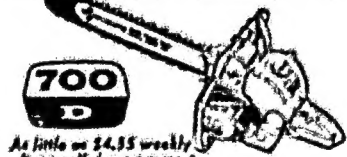

"The Class of 1960 in an endeavor to express our sincere appreciation to Mrs. Lillian Mason, R. N., hope she realizes our gratefulness in this small token by dedicating this edition of the 'Caduceus' to her. With kindness and encouragement we gained the confidence necessary to meet satisfactorily the many challenges confronting us as student nurses. Her generosity and friendship will be remembered by all."

V. A. NEWS LETTER

A new law providing for additional compensation to veterans with severe service-connected disabilities who have more than three children has been signed by President Eisenhower, Dr. Joseph Weltman, manager of VA's Togus Center, announces.

The prior law did not authorize payment for more than three children, Dr. Weltman said.

The additional compensation will range from $12 monthly for each child after the first three where the veteran's service-connected disability is evaluated at 100 per cent down to $6 monthly where the veteran's disability is evaluated at 50 per cent. Between the two extremes proportionate amounts will be payable for percentages of disability.

Where the disability was due to peacetime service, the rates would be eighty per cent of the amount payable for wartime disability.

Up until now, Dr. Weltman said, a veteran with a service-connected disability of 50 per-

The term "children" includes all sons and daughters, real or legally adopted, under age 18 and unmarried. Children who become incapable of self-support through mental or physical causes before reaching the age of 18 will still be considered children under provisions of this law until they marry.

"These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck...but not our Chevy"

Few trucks are subjected to the body-wracking beatings that are part of a day's work for this Chevrolet Series 60 pulpwood hauler. It's owned by J. E. Fox, North Carolina logging contractor. As Bobby Fox, a partner in the business says, "Loaded with pulpwood, we drive over stumps and potholes you'd think would tear the truck to pieces. These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck, but not our Chevy. We can average an extra load a day... make $45 to $50 a day more with this Chevy than we can with the others."

In every weight class these Chevrolets are doing more work at less expense than trucks have ever done before. Drive one at your Chevrolet dealer's. It's an experience that could pay you big dividends.

"That 6-cylinder engine really performs," says Bobby Fox. "It's got the lifting power we need in the woods and walks right along with a full load on the highway."

GOULD ACADEMY WINS 10 YEAR ACCREDITATION

Gould Academy is one of 38 Maine secondary schools to receive a top rating of "accredited" under the new rating program which went into effect this year, according to an announcement by the State Department of Education.

The accreditation for Gould Academy is for 10 years, according to Dr. Joseph J. Devitt, state director of secondary school education. All of the other schools but one were accredited for a five year period.

The newly applied act creates two classifications of "basic approval" and accreditation. Basic approval is virtually mandatory, since without it a school does not qualify for attendance, tuition or state subsidy privileges.

Accreditation is optional, must be applied for by the individual school and must be earned. Devitt said it is difficult to acquire.

"It is based on evidence that the school is providing a superior educational program for all boys and girls," he said.

"Each school is evaluated in terms of its own educational philosophy... that is, in terms of what functions it believes it was organized to accomplish."

Visiting committees from other school systems do the evaluation, usually recommending accreditation when specified improvements have been completed.

Thus far, only Gould Academy and Sanford High School have won accreditation without any changes, Devitt said.

Common obstacles have included inadequate library, insufficient guidance service, excessive class size, poorly equipped laboratories, over-crowding, inadequacies in curriculum and failure to observe state law on health and physical education.
